

The sands of time slip fast away, Another year has passed today.

So pick your colors, one by one,
Think of moments full of fun.

Each color holds a memory bright,
Of fun-filled days and happy nights.

Layer them up and you will see,
A jar of who you've come to be

